

you lookin' at me...

Smyth's work for the "Votes for Women" movement is reflected in much of the music she composed not least The March of the Women, which came to be adopted as the suffragette anthem. She was said to have once stormed into 10 Downing St & hammered out the March on Prime Minister Asquith's piano while the Cabinet was in session.

*or are you going
to register to vote?*

Do it now!
register to VOTE
make your mark
registration closes
22 May - 11.59pm
www.gov.uk/register-to-vote